Why?

I am Tom Hallam and I am 16. I am selling Christmas trees to raise money to cover the costs of my World Challenge expedition to South India, which I will be going on with Ripon Grammar School in the summer of 2025.

World Challenge is an organisation that takes students overseas to take part in a student-led leadership expedition. They focus on building teamwork, resilience and leadership skills as well as on sustainability and conservation.

You buy it. I will deliver it and collect it after the festivities in the new year
